Northwest Missouri State Teachers College

VOLUME XVII

MARYVILLE, MISSOURI, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1930

NUMBER 5

Harry C. Thomas of Maysville Is New President

Superintendent of Schools at Maysville
Succeeds J. M. Broadbent as Leader
For Northwest Missouri Teachers.

A graduate of the college, Harry C. Thomas, superintendent of schools at Maysville, is the new president of the Northwest Missouri Teachers Association as the successor to J. M. Broadbent of Martinsville. He was elected at a business session of the Association held in the auditorium Friday morning, October 24, following the close of the last general session of the annual meeting.

Other officers chosen follow: Miss Jessie Murphy, Grant City, first vice-president; Francis L. Skaith, Gowar, second vice-president; Mrs. Mabel Newton, third vice-president; secretary, Bert Cooper, re-elected; treasurer, Hubert Garrett, re-elected.

U. L. Riley of Maitland, whose term on the executive board expired this year, was re-elected for the new term. The other two members of the board are W. H. McDonald of Trenton, whose term does not end until 1932, and Charles Myers, who will serve until 1931.

The Association voted to provide expenses for the trip of the new president, Mr. Thomas, to the National Education Association meeting next July. Last year the Association sent Mr. Broadbent to the N. E. A. convention in Ohio.

The members of the district Association unanimously accepted the report of the resolutions committee and go on record as favoring the program recommended by the State Survey Commission. The Association also goes on record requesting that the state superintendent's regulation requiring teachers of first-class rural schools to be members of the state association, also to be extended to include teachers in grade schools and high schools. It was resolved that the state delegates be instructed to approve any plan whereby a larger percentage of the state association membership fees be allotted to the district association.

The Association voted its thanks to Lamkin, the Chamber of Commerce, as the college, the courtesies of President well as other organizations and individuals that contributed time and effort to the success of the meeting.

Beyond question the two most important speakers at the meeting were William Stofanstrom, Artic explorer, who gave nine addresses while in Maryville, and Dr. W. A. Sutton, president of the National Education Association, and superintendent of schools at Atlanta, Georgia.

Other highlight speakers on the program were Dr. Henry J. Gerling, president of the Missouri State Teachers Association, and superintendent of the St. Louis schools; Dr. George A. Solke, president of the State Teachers College, St. Cloud, Minn.; Dr. Caroline Hodger, Elizabeth McCormick Memorial, Chicago; Mrs. W. A. Masters of St. Joseph, director of the Missouri Branch, National Congress of Parents and Teachers; Dr. G. W. Rosenloff, state department of Public Education, Lincoln, Neb.; Mr. C. E. Barick, State Teachers College, Hays, Kansas.

Forensic Union Is Seen in Mock Debate

The outstanding feature of the Assembly program Wednesday, November 5, presented by the Forensic Union, was a debate on the all-important question: "Resolved, 'Tis better to have loved and lost than never to have loved.'" The affirmative was upheld nobly by Marvin (One Round) Shambarger who waxed eloquent on the subject, but he was no match for his little but mighty opponent, George Walter (Battling) Allen.

The debate was conducted in a truly athletic style, both contestants being dressed in gym suits. The referee for the match was Wilbur Pottigrow, while Lowell Galt and Orville Kollm served as Shambarger's trainers and Carl Blackwelder as official timer.

Others who participated in the program by delivering speeches on different subjects were Oleola Dawson, Glenn Duncan and Howard Qualls. Each of the speeches given represented a different type such as entertaining, instructive, argumentative, etc.

Jerome Smith, president of the Forensic Union, was in charge of the program. The hour ended by some yells for forensics and for the football team following Howard Quall's speech on the topic, "Play the Game for Dad."

Welcome Dads

TO OUR DADS

To you, our Dads, protectors of our infancy, mentors of our childhood, pals and heroes of our adolescence, friends, guides, and providers of our maturing years, we bow in humble acknowledgement of the debt we owe to you.

May we, this day, show some little appreciation of the sacrifices you have so unselfishly made in the effort that we may become even better citizens than you are, and thereby repay you in some slight measure for this magnanimous love.—E. T.

Dad's Day Program

The program for the day provides for the following entertainment:

10:00-12:00—All the Dads will register in the Recreation Room in the Administration building and will receive their tickets for the banquet.

Principal Is Chosen For College High

Miss Lois Halley, daughter of Mrs. B. C. Halley of Maryville, has been selected to serve as principal of the College High School, until June, to take the place of Mr. L. E. Ziegler who resigned the position to become superintendent of the Schools at Boonville.

Miss Halley has been for the last six years an instructor in Mississippi State College at Columbus, Mississippi. The three years previous to that time she was principal of the Trenton high school, and before that she served for three years in the Maryville high school as teacher of history.

The new principal of the College high school has a sixty-hour certificate from the College; her B. S. degree from Missouri University and her M. A. degree with majors in education and social science from Chicago.

Grace Westfall Writes Story From Directory

Student Gives An Imaginary Story of a
Hallowe'en Party in Which Everyone
Has a Good Time. See Directory.

Jack and James had a party to celebrate the favorite Holiday of the year—Hallowe'en. The guests began to arrive soon after the Gray Shades of night had fallen. No light could be seen on the porch and they wondered if this were the Streeter not, until a loud hollar from Glenn brought an answering ghostly gurgle from the Burnes.

Such a route as the masqueraders followed from the Alley to the Garrett. Judging from the number of logs that cluttered the field and Meadows, one might have thought that Beavers had done a good job felling material for a wall, and that all the Gates for miles around were set up there. It was a wonder they all didn't tripp. At last they got over the last Hedge to the West and were told to Mounce the stairs.

It was a strange and assorted company that had gathered in this Vail of spirits. Anthony was there with Cicopatra, there was a Boyman dressed in Green just as he would be for an English May Day, a Pischer, a Gardner, a Miller, a Needy Painter, a Sergeant, a Black Smith, a Barber, a Brewer, a Duke, a Groom, a Cook in a Hoover apron, Anderson, a Hunter with Blood in his heart, a King, a Redmon—a Trueblood of America, a Sayler, a Sexton, a Taylor, a Shepherd fresh from the Meadows, a Bishop, and Mary and her Lamkin. The disguises were so good that few could guess who their next door neighbor was and it was difficult to determine who did Merritt the prize.

Games in keeping with the season were played and the old Chambers rang with New Life. Wallace tried to blow a walnut shell with a lighted candle in it across a tub of water to determine its future. However, the candle fell out of the hull, so of course the Sparks were put out and the Link to the future was lost.

Bobbing for apples was the next attraction offered. Someone remarked, "You wouldn't get a bit wetter if you waded up to your neck in a Marsh on a Heath in Scotland or jumped off Eads bridge." It was fun though, and Ida Hollered, "Paulette me be next."

Then Adams said, "Turner on." McDaniel and Stalcup yore executing a Morris dance with great grace until Sparky remarked, "The Hays too thick on the floor, I'm tired of this Stalling. Let's stop before we London our noses."

Following this Lawrence played a piano while Thompson Carrolled a Lott like a Diekey Bird, or perhaps it was a Jay. Guillems, DeWitt of the crowd, got his opportunity as the merry-makers gathered around the fireplace and told Stories.

Then came the best thing of all—oats, and how they did Aisup. Such Huckelberry pie and Grimes golden apples you never tasted. Frost would have choked if Newkirk had not Patton his back.

"Cook certainly Fries doughnuts to a turn," "Any Moore to Spare," "Trotter out if you have Moore," "This surely is Dunham," and "Boy, you'll dream of Lyons if you eat another bit," are only snatches from the animated conversation that was floating about on the witchified air. James piped out "No Hush to Morrow," and someone inquired "Do you want me to put the Corken this elder jugs?"

Tower Queen's Ball Will Be Elaborate

The 1930-31 Tower Staff is inaugurating the Tower Queen's Ball with a grand coronation ceremony for the class Tower queens and an all-college dance Friday evening, November 14 in the west library. Every effort is being made to make this the largest social function of the year thus far, and to institute an annual affair which will traditionally be considered the major social event of the fall quarter.

Effort is being made to complete the elaborate details which will go to put on an unusual amount of color into the ceremony and party. Special lighting effects are anticipated, and the actual crowning of the queens by the respective class presidents will be the feature of the evening. This will be followed at the end of the dance by a grand march. The best music available has been obtained, and every student who has been looking for a "swell affair" will not be disappointed.

Announcements of a more definite nature will be released later.

Bearcats Defeat Emporia Team In Snappy Game

The Emporia Hornets, Central Kansas
Conference Champions, are Defeated in Thrilling Game, 38-21.

M. I. A. A. Standing
Team	W	L	Pct.
Kirkville	2	0	1000
Maryville	1	0	1000
Springfield	1	1	500
Cape Girardeau	0	1	000
Warrensburg	0	2	000

Kirkville went into the lead in the M. I. A. A. conference race last week end with a 13 to 7 victory over the Springfield Bears. Kirkville has now won two games and has lost none. However, the Maryville team, which has played only one conference game, and played an out-of-state affair last Friday, holds an equal percentage. Springfield was forced out of a three way tie as a result of the loss, and Cape Girardeau remained next to the cellar by playing a non-conference tile with the Carbondale, Illinois, Teachers, in which the latter were victors. Warrensburg is clear out of the race with two losses to no victories.

A fighting, plunging, tearing, passing team of all-ace Bearcats handily turned back an over-rated and over-confident Emporia, Kansas, teachers team on the new College field here October 24 by the unusual score of 38 to 21. Maryville scored six touchdowns and two extra points, while the Kansas Yellowjackets could put over only three six-point counters with an equal number of kicked one-pointers.

A slightly chilly but nevertheless enthusiastic audience of nearly 3000 rooters, a record for the current season, was astounded by such numbers of thrilling plays and numerous touchdowns. Everything was there to give the rooter his money's worth. McCoy, all-Kansas quarterback, put on the whole show as far as ball lugging was concerned, and at times appeared intent on winning for his team single-handed. Frank Daniels, Maryville half, furnished real thrills with his "ten-second" dashes around the ends, which several times netted gains of somewhere between twenty and forty yards. And the real credit goes to the diminutive Maryville half-back, Ryland Milner. This little man threw so many passes that the sky was cluttered up with them most of the time, and what was supposed to be a football game was nearly broken up into an outdoor basketball game, as the score might indicate.

The wonderful Maryville passing machine is really responsible for the Bearcat victory, five touchdowns being made more or less directly by that method. As soon as the game had started and Maryville had received the kick-off, by her own choice, Milner threw a pass to Don Sheetz, who had clearly eluded his man and was loose to trot forty yards for a touchdown. The same Milner kicked goal to bring the Missouri Teachers score to 7. Fran Welch, Emporia coach and former Army star, seeing his error in starting his second string, began sending in first team replacements. Another Bearcat attack ensued, however, and before many more minutes were over another pass, Milner to Sheetz, was good for a forty yard gain and another six points. The kick was not good. Immediately the whole regular Hornet team went onto the field, and in retaliation marched the entire length of the field to score a touchdown, bringing the score to 13-7, which stood until the close of the first half.

Soon after the second division began, another Emporia drive started which was similar to the scoring plays of the previous period. McCoy carried the ball hither and yon and before the Bearcat defense could collect itself, another Yellow Jacket touchdown was counted, and the visitors went in to the lead, 14 to 13. Immediately Fischer called for pass-outs which brought the Maryville fans to their feet and ended with another score. From there on the game was a rout. As to who had the ball, or whether it was in the sky, no one ventured to say. Anyhow, three more Maryville touchdowns followed in rapid succession, and Emporia counted once more in the short period of less than twenty minutes. The dazzling lights of the field were almost outshone by the brilliance of play, by an inspired team.

According to several old-timers, no ball carrier such as McCoy has ever been seen on the Maryville fields.

To Fischer, Bearcat quarter, goes the

LET'S YELL

The game Friday night can and should be Maryville's game. Whether it will be or not depends largely on the student body. If the students go out to the bleachers to catch up on the sleep that they have lost during the last week, the game may go to Warrensburg. At all of the home games this year the yell leaders have had the task of trying to get the students to yell. It has been a contest between the yell leaders who were determined that the students should yell and some of the students who were equally determined that they were not going to yell.

At the game this Friday night let's get up on our toes, back up the team, and give them a barrage of snappy yells that will again send them over for touchdowns.—B. J. W.

A TRIBUTE TO DAD

Standing out in stark relief in the enveloping haze that surrounds the horizon of fondest memories, is the vision of a man's face; a face depicting love and kindness, manliness and firmness, courage and hope. Yet without, around that rugged face, there dances the shadows of misery, despair, and, perhaps, disillusionment. But in that unwavering eye and on that noble brow, we may read an inscription more beautiful than any words that have flowed from the pen of man. There may be seen all the heartaches, all the careworn lines, all the searing pain that a parent suffers for children.

But that is only half, for in that countenance benign there is engraved an unfaltering pride and faith that those children will be a lasting credit to the world and that they will leave their marks on the annals of history for posterity to read.

We should want to be proud of our Dads as they are proud of us. We want to love our Dads as they are loving us. We should want to fight and work for Dad as he fights and works for us.

Dad will seal the highest peak or sink to the lowest depths with us. He will walk to the brink of despair or tread the primrose path with us. And if necessary, he will die for us.

Some one once said that Lincoln's face was the most beautiful he had ever seen. What did he mean? When that haze that enshrouds our recollection dims and fades; when we have reached the twilight of our life, and Nirvana hovers close on silent, dusky wing, perhaps we then will know. For as death engulfs us in his all-enveloping grasp, one of the last pictures some will see is a kind and loving face. And with our last breath we may whisper, "Oh! how beautiful—it's my Dad."

—W. C.

A REAL FRIEND

Thousands of transitory friends meet and greet us along this old, crowded thoroughfare of life but when we come to try their durability and put their friendship to the test, that is, the kind of test that really counts for anything beyond the fleeting moments, alas, what is their intrinsic worth as compared to Dad's help and Dad's words of encouragement.

Seemingly it is with unbounded pleasure that Dad struggles with his children and it is with a sense of delightful responsibility that Dad gives a full measure of his declining years, that he may awaken and assist his children in attaining the truest and highest values of life.

Dad's highest and most exalted fruits of life must be to see his children steadily fixing into their lives, the highest and most worthy motives, a fixed determination on their part, not to waste time, their opportunities or energies through indifference to the great prize of life.

May this Fellowship Day, this Dad's Day, help sons and daughters to maintain a steady and unbroken loyalty to their country and to their fellowman. To maintain such a loyalty is surely an ideal worthy of any Dad and one also worthy to be considered by a student body of this great institution, Our S. T. C.—H. L.

A TRIBUTE TO DAD

Some Dads are big, strong and husky. Pure and gentle, kind and true, Some are great in ways of thinking, My Dad is great, yours is too.

Dads love their children dearly, Giving their all for things worthwhile Teaching them how to fight life's battles, Meeting its issues with a graceful smile.

The Dads who seek for high ideals Of wholesome thinking—living— Will never die in minds of people, Dads will live when Dads are gone. —L. H.

Dr Sutton Speaks Here on Education

Dr. Sutton, president of the N. E. A., makes the following statements concerning Education:

"Education must be more democratic."

"The school cannot educate. It has the children only five and one-half hours per day, and only 180 days out of 365 each year."

In this country we are going to improve the rural school or we are not going to have any democracy."

"There are seven dollars in taxable property behind every city child and one dollar in taxable property behind every country child."

"Equalization of educational opportunity must be within the state and within the nation."

"Business and education must be brought closer together. The cave man didn't want any furniture, automobiles, radios, etc. If we were all cave men there wouldn't be any demand for merchandise. Education increases people's wants and this demand for articles of consumption makes more and better business."

"In the National Education Association we want an integration of public schools, private and parochial schools, teacher's colleges, private colleges, denominational colleges, and private and public universities. We need them all."

"America thinks too much in terms of things, not people."

"We measure a good town by saying it has beautiful public buildings, thriving banks, good schools, factories, etc.; we never measure a town by saying it has wonderful children, the people believe in culture, art, etc."

"A piece of property in Georgia has a pedigree back to the time of James Oglethorpe, but it has no records to substantiate the age of a high school player whose eligibility is questioned. A state that thinks more of a town lot than it does of its people cannot prosper."

"A teacher who calls a child a 'dirty brat' should not be permitted in the school room."

"Health is the first and most important objective of Education. We must seek to preserve and strengthen the physical inheritance of the human race, and we cannot do it by mere inspection and correction."

Nearly every one can learn to master something and it is the teacher's business to help children to find what it is that they can master and help them to achieve the success and power which comes from mastering at least this one thing.

The second objective of education is scholarship and the young people of today must learn to master something for this is the beginning of scholarship. If a person has the grit to stick to a thing, he or she will be able to master it.

The third objective of education is character, according to Dr. Sutton's point of view. A young man and a young woman must have character to succeed, and to be liked in their success.

Anti-Saloon Play Impresses Crowd

The Anti-Saloon League met at the Christian Church, Tuesday evening, October 28. Mr. Johnson, Jr. of Kansas City, agent of the league, explained the work of the league in part. He stressed two points. First, "Prohibition Laws Can Be Enforced," and he gave as an example the county of Southern Illinois where the Berger Brothers, bootleggers and gangsters, had been arrested and convicted by a sheriff who had been nominated and elected through the Anti-Saloon League and its friends. There is now no place in the county where liquor is being sold openly at road-houses. Second, Taking the entire country over, far less liquor is used now than at any time previous to the Eighteenth Amendment, according to the speaker. At the close of his talk a short play was staged in order to present the cause more effectively. The play was entitled, "The Case of the Murder of Earl Wright." Mr. Johnson Jr. was the prosecuting attorney; Mr. Johnson Sr. was the attorney for the defendant; Marvin Shamberger, the culprit; Dr. Dildine, the coroner. The Judge, jury, police, etc. were composed of local citizens. The points illustrated and enforced by testimony and remarks to the jury were: (1) A man committing murder while drunk must be held responsible for his act. (2) Responsibility not his alone; the companions and social conditions place undue pressure on a man who doesn't want to drink. (3) Man or company who sells intoxicant ought in justice to share penalties of crime committed. (4) Court procedure cannot escape responsibility. Sometimes prosecuting attorneys are lax in bringing up cases of this kind. Judges impose very light sentence. The culprit was convicted as was a bootlegger related to the crime, but who was suspended on good behavior. There was a large crowd in attendance and the remarks were heard that this play did more good than a lecture possibly would have done.

Broadcast at Grant City

Faculty members of the College conservatory of music presented a musical program over radio station KGIZ at Grant City Wednesday night. The program was a part of "Maryville Night" at that radio station, the activities being planned by a committee selected by the Maryville Chamber of Commerce.

Business Depression Is Subject of Talk

Mr. Mounce, of the Business Administration Department, was the principal speaker at the monthly dinner of the Men's Bible Class of the Presbyterian Church, October 29. He discussed the business depression and the influence of the business cycle upon creating depressions periodically. He also discussed certain suggested means whereby we might "smooth out" the business cycle, thereby practically eliminating a recurrence of depressions. Among the remedies he suggested: (1) Control of credit structure through the manipulation of discount rate. This would be handled by the Federal Reserve Board. (2) Through stabilization of the dollar. (3) Through the more efficient development and frequent use of forecasting agencies. To be able to anticipate a coming depression should make it possible to neutralize its neutral effects. (4) Through more perfect coordination of factories of production. In the second part of his talk, Mr. Mounce pointed out that probably the depression was more a result of under-purchasing power on the part of individuals than the so-called overproduction. According to Mr. Mounce, what should be done is to work out a legislative program whereby the general purchasing power of the consumer is increased. This would give the individuals a command over greater quantity of commodities and would thereby raise the standard of living. This should be our chief objective in the reconstruction of our economic order. One of the chief difficulties now is the inequitable and unjust distribution of wealth and income among the people.

At the dinner the Sunday School orchestra furnished the music and Mr. Guy Mercer gave a vocal solo. Superintendent Lawing, who is president of the class, acted as master of ceremonies. There were about 40 members in attendance.

Mr. Mounce also gave an address at Cowgill, Missouri, October 17 on "The Recommendation of the Survey Commission."

Training School Has Hallowe'en Parties

The Training School was a scene of festivity on Halloween. The kindergarten children had their party from 9:30 until 12 o'clock on Friday. The small youngsters came masqued and a parade was staged. Then the games of bob for apples, pin a tail on the cat, were played. There was an exciting hunt for candy Jack-O-Lanterns, after which corn was popped. The children drank their milk from glasses decorated with Jack-o-lanterns. The party was concluded with dances and Halloween stories and songs.

The first grade also came masqued, but as each masqued figure was identified by the playing of the 'meow game' the masque was removed. Other games such as pinning a nose on a pumpkin, peep show, and a peanut hunt were enjoyed. Halloween stories and songs were given and the party was concluded by the serving of orange ice and Jack-O-Lantern cookies. This party was from 1 to 3 o'clock as was the party for the second and third grades. The second and third grades also came masqued and their entertainment was very similar to that of the first grade. They also had orange ice and Jack-O-Lantern cookies. Their favors were lollypop dolls and marshmallow cats. Their place cards and table decorations were Jack-O-Lanterns.

The intermediate grades likewise staged a masquerade party. The social committee was: Frances Phares, chairman, Mary Margaret Phares and Mary Ruth New. The decoration committee: Leigh Roy Wilson, chairman, Virginia Bowen and Herschel Bryant. The refreshment committee: Wanita Hilley, chairman, Evangelina Scott and Mildred Blackford. From three to four the Junior High had a masquerade. This entertainment in part was: game, Ride Old Maud; trying to get an apple off a string; and a treasure hunt, for which a prize was offered to the one finding the lucky number. Their refreshments consisted of apples and suckers dressed as dolls, candy kisses, and cookies. Mr. Phillips and the practice teachers were the invited guests. All of the rooms were attractively decorated in Halloween motifs.

Radio Announcements

Announcements concerning Dad's Day, the district basketball tournament, and the Warrensburg-Bearcat game were made from both the Henry Field Seed Company station at Shenandoah, Iowa, station KFNF, and the Berry Seed Company of Clarinda, Iowa, station KSO. Both stations made the announcements free.

Good District Orchestra

Sixteen high schools furnished members for the fourth annual Northwest Missouri high school orchestra, which presented a program at the Teachers' Meeting last week. The orchestra was under the direction of H. O. Hickernell, of the College conservatory of music, and was one of the best the district has ever had.

All Tower photos are to be taken by, or before, November 15!

County Tournament

In the county outdoor basketball tournament for high schools last Friday and Saturday at the Maryville high school gymnasium, the Pickering team won the event for the ninth consecutive year, a record that has never been equalled in this or neighboring counties.

Pickering defeated Elmo in the finals by a score of 20 to 11. Third place went to the College High, by virtue of its victory in the consolation finals. The winners of this meet, as well as the winners of the similar meets held in other counties of the district are qualified to play in the district tournament being held under the auspices of the College at the College gymnasium Friday and Saturday of this week.

Westfall Story

At length it was time to say 'good-night'. Ebersole declared there had not been a dull moment.

Some had won by Wiley means and Gile the privilege of escorting some fair maids with curly hair to their homes. "Why don't you Warner that you may have to walk home if your four Wheeler won't perk?" asked a young fellow who was a Goodson, but lacking in the Wiles when it came to women of one of the more fortunate who did not dare to answer him.

A lot of Meek souls probably went home to Ball. My heart Bledsoe for them, but they should Russell around a bit. It is Moore than a Curl or a sweet glance that Burns into the heart, there to Breedlove. Reid the signs and watch out for your Hartman, especially if you are a Richmond.

"Durr, it's cold. Where is McKee?" exclaimed Wilson as he got ready to head his Dodge toward Hopkins. "My fond Parent will institute a Search to Hunterton if I don't get home before the Cox crow to Morrow." "My Hudson never Knox" said Wells, and "Oannday be Moore enjoyable than the last Day of October?" "If I didn't have to go home and study "LaMar and Diable" lamoged Gillis, "But you are

Battery "C" College Men Receive Honors

Carol "Bunt" Russell was elected Top Sergeant of Battery C, 128 Field Artillery, Mo. N. G., at a meeting of the non-commissioned officers, Monday evening, November 3.

An interesting letter from Kenneth Grooson, former head cheer leader of the College and member of Battery C, was read to the organization. "Kenny" tells us that he has been transferred to Kelly Field, the Army's advanced flying school at San Antonio, Texas. He studied for the Army entrance requirements while in school here.

At the drill October 27, several College boys who belong to the Battery received gunner's medals. Roland Russell, Walter Dowell, Robert Perkins, John Rucker, Marion Search and Melvin Vail received second-class gunner's medals. Richard Nelson, a former student, received a first-class gunner's medal.

Beginning with the Winter quarter, students of the College who belong to the Battery and who attend the drills will be exempt from the physical education requirement. Their attendance and attitude at drill will determine the grade they are to receive in Physical Education. The Battery is now composed largely of College students.

Instructor Speaks Before S. S. Class

O. Myking Mehus of the Social Science Department at the College discussed "Temperance" before the College class at the Methodist Church Sunday School on Sunday morning, October 26. The College class from the Christian Church were visitors. This class is taught by A. J. Cauffman of the Geography Department at the College.

In a part of his talk Mr. Mehus made a plea for total abstinence from the use of intoxicating liquors. He said that it made no difference whether the liquor was sold in a saloon or under government control as in Canada—the alcohol is equally intoxicating and equally harmful. The plea for the return of wine and beer is really a plea for the return of the whole old liquor evil. Mr. Mehus declared, for ninety-two per cent of the liquor consumed in pre-prohibition days was beer. In other words, if we get back beer we'll have practically the old liquor evil to combat again.

Mr. Mehus pointed out that the personal liberty argument is of no value, for in civilized society personal liberty has to give way to public welfare.

Professor Irving Fisher, noted Yale economist, in analyzing the crime figures for New York finds: "In the alcoholic record of New York City there is nothing to warrant the widely heralded belief that prohibition has debauched American youth. On the contrary, first convictions for drunkenness in that city, in which youth have a principal share, have diminished more rapidly, even, than the total yearly convictions for drunkenness."

Students Discuss Parliamentary Law

At the meeting of Forensic Union recently Wilbur Pettigrew gave some very instructive pointers on Parliamentary Law, endeavoring to prepare members of the Union for the interesting games of Parliamentary Law to be played in Forensic Union at a later date. Emil Copeland spoke on the subject of "Whiskey and the Automobile," while Evert Bashor demonstrated oratorical style on the subject, "Capital Punishment."

On Wednesday, November 5, at a meeting of the group in Social Hall, Mr. Miller spoke further on Parliamentary Procedure. Then the meeting was in order for the playing of Parliamentary games. Following the games, Carl Blackwelder made a brief talk which was followed by Open Forum Discussion. Every one was invited to attend.

Is State Chairman of Peace Pact Project

O. Myking Mehus of the Social Science Department of the College, has been appointed Missouri State Chairman of the Paris Peace Pact project, which is being sponsored by the National Student Forum, among the high school students of the United States.

Last year between 1,500 and 1,600 high schools participated and over 122,000 students enrolled. The national winner of the $500 trip to Europe last summer was a distinguished student from Portland, Oregon. The Paris Peace pact is also being studied in the schools of several countries—notably in France, England, and Australia.

"Since the Peace Pact was proclaimed by President Hoover," says Dr. William John Cooper, United States Commissioner of Education, "it has become a part of the law of the land. Our schools are therefore under obligation to teach it." The Representative Assembly of the National Education Association, held at Columbus, Ohio, July 3, 1930, passed a resolution recommending "that the Pact of Paris be taught in the schools."

The several features of the project are as follows:

1. Students may prepare papers of not more than 500 words on the question: "What 'Pacifism Means' Should be Developed to Make the Paris Peace Pact Effective?"

2. The best paper in the school may be selected by local judges. If requested by the principal, the Committee in charge will furnish free as an award a full-color reproduction of the signature pages of the original Paris Pact with the place for appropriate inscription to the individual student. Other prizes may be provided locally.

3. The best school paper may be sent by the principal to the chairman of the State Committee to be entered for the State award. For the best paper in the state, selected by the State Committee, two awards will be made: for the school, a large, handsomely framed, full-color reproduction of the entire original Paris Pact, with appropriate inscription to the individual school; for the student, a finely framed, full-color reproduction of the signature pages of the original treaty, also with appropriate inscription, and, in addition, special consideration for membership in the Student Forum International Relations Tour in Europe for the summer of 1931, whether the expense is to be provided by the school, a local civic association, an education association, or by the student himself.

4. Each State Committee will select the best paper written in the State and submit it to the national committee in charge. For the best paper in the United States, selected by the national committee, a free membership in the Student Forum International Relations Tour in Europe for the summer of 1931 will be awarded.

Mr. Mehus has appointed the following educators to serve with him on the State Committee: Julian C. Aldrich, Assistant Principal, Webster High School; Arthur E. Bostwick, Librarian, St. Louis; Mrs. Bethel Corder, Pipkin Junior High, Springfield; Luther Crocker, teacher, Benton High, St. Joseph; R. S. Douglas, Dean, Southwest Missouri State Teachers College, Kirksville; Charles A. McMillan, Superintendent, Lebanon; George Melcher, Superintendent, Kansas City; R. D. Shouse, Principal, Normandy High, St. Louis; and Thos. J. Walker, Editor, School and Community, Columbia.

The following members of the national committee are ex-officio members of the state committee: Uel W. Lamkin, former president of the National Education Association, and President, Northwest Missouri State Teachers College, Maryville; Charles A. Lee, State Superintendent of Public Schools, Jefferson City; Ikon. Richard Bartholdt, St. Louis; I. R. Bundy, Librarian, St.

Joseph; Rev. M. Ashby Jones, St. Louis; J. R. Scarborough, Jefferson City; Bishop William Searlott; B. S. Shackelford, St. Louis; and Charles H. Williams, Columbia.

Three entire blocks in the center of New York are to be demolished. A radio centre is to be established there. The project is estimated to cost $450,000. Work on the plan is to begin in October. The buildings will house four of the largest theatres in the United States, 27 broadcasting stations and a cityful of offices. This construction plan has been announced by the Rockefeller interests and the Radio Corporation of America. The programs broadcast will reach from point to point of the whole world.

The Stroller

By I. I. I.

Well, kids, what do you say, let's change the ordinary routine and take a stroll with the Stroller this week. You know, Friday is Dad's Day, and it is up to all of us, Stroller included, to make it a real show day. So why not let's stroll around a bit and see some of the things of interest.

Why not take dad to a class or so during the day? Maybe you will have a chance to show him that you are not just one of those hi-powered things sent off to college for four years to blow off. And furthermore, since many of our dads did not have the opportunity to go to college as we did, may be we can show them a thing or so that they didn't know. For instance, Dad would have to take his hat off to us if we took him to French class and he could not understand a word we said, or if he saw us flinging figures in a math class or something.

The halls are a pretty good place to get a general drift of what's happening. And don't forget that there is a fourth floor in this institution. A walk from the east end to the west end of fourth will probably disclose several things of interest both to dad and to you yourself. Chances are even you haven't seen our art department.

If you have a laboratory class, take him to the lab and show him some of the things of interest there. Any dad likes to see pickled snakes, or a flying machine, or a wireless set-up, or anything of that sort. And the gymnasium is just as interesting, while we are talking of class places. There is a district basketball tournament going on there which should be of some attraction.

The exhibits across from the auditorium, the auditorium itself, the Northwest Missourian office in room 212, social hall, and seats of other places are worth going to. Oh don't forget the dormitory parlor where we all spend our evenings, the lovers' bench out on the front sidewalk, and all that kind of thing. You might find something that would also be new to you if you wandered into the power house just under the big smokestack. The front floor is on hinges, or at least was the last time the Stroller was there. That's just about that. Now something else.

The Stroller agrees with Mr. Lamkin that the Student Council did a good thing in making it not necessary to come to the library every night just to have a date. A few steps will be saved now.

Tuesday night must be the night on which students stay up latest. At least last Wednesday at assembly you might have thought about four hundred of the students had been up till the wee sma' hours of the morning before, judging from the number asleep during the lecture. More power to Vergilubus (or what have you). He's got to change his style to beat the Sandman.

Someone reported that the Queen's coronation ball was to be formal but the Stroller made an investigation and found out that it is nonesuch, and you can wear overalls if you want to. Just let your conscience guide you (and also your girl). The Tower Staff claims it will be the biggest affair of the year as yet, but it will have to go some to beat the Student Council party last Friday. If you hadn't heard about it, there was a dance and skating party in the library last Friday night. No serious casualties were reported from the falls on the slippery floor. And everyone seemed to enjoy the vinegar and doughnuts.

Quite recently the Stroller learned a new fact or two about old M. S. T. O., for which he is indebted to one of the Freshman football aspirants. The big news is that this College, in which the fair sex had so fondly imagined that it had such a large part, does not claim the girls as a part of the student body. At least, when one of the Wentworth boys asked Quell Duncan if this was a co-educational college he replied "It is JUST A COLLEGE." And all of this in spite of the fact that his preference for a certain blonde is well known.

One of our shining examples in the English composition department seems to have exceedingly high aspirations. Anyhow, the other day when asked about what subject she was choosing, she answered that she was aiming to write a paper on the moon. When asked how she expected to get up there, she answered that she would explain that after she returned.

Mr. Salvason, of the commerce department, seems to be making quite a name for himself as an exponent of strong lungs at the football games. He has done so well in calling the plays across the field that several offers seem to be forthcoming to him to be auctioneer, hollerer, and the like for important events.

The Bearcats seem to have the best team in the country when they are playing at home. Guess that means defeat for the Mules. Let's help 'em, and wind up the day with a real show for Dad.

Senior Mixer

The senior social mixer was held recently in Social Hall at the College. More than forty of the seniors were present for the good time and became better acquainted with each other. The class officers plan for a get-together of the members of the class perhaps once each month. Lois Carroll is president of the class.

Defeat Emporia

credit for one of the cleverest plays of the game. In the first half, when Maryville was in the neighborhood of her own thirty yard line, on the first down Fischer called for a running formation and from it dropped back and caught the Emporia safety man by surprise to punt far over his head, the kick going for 65 yards.

Max Knorrp, halfback from Maryville, made a thrilling 80-yard run after scooping up McCoy's fumble, but the play was not allowed, by a ruling on picking up opponents fumbles made recently.

Bearcats Lose to Durant Oklahoma

A Bearcat team, entirely revised and with apparently none of the fight and will-to-win that characterized the game of a week before, fell victim last Friday to the onslaughts of the Durant, Oklahoma, Teachers on foreign territory, 19 to 6. Several of the regulars and Coach Lefty Davis did not make the trip.

In the early moments of the game the Durant team made a drive toward the goal line and had first down with goal to go on just one yard. The Maryville line held and at the end of four downs the Bearcats took the ball on the five yard line. Fischer immediately kicked, but the boot was bad and went for only about 20 yards. On the next play Durant made an end run which was good for the entire distance to the goal and a touchdown.

As the game progressed the Oklahomaans seemed to have the better of the going throughout. Before the final quarter passes netted two more touchdowns and the Durant score was raised to 19 before the Maryville team made a determined last stand and by a series of deceptive passes went across for a touchdown just three minutes before the final whistle.

The following men made the trip. Ruth and Dunham, centers; W. Dowell, Mahood, and Hindman, guards; Lewis, R. Dowell, and Westfall, tackles; Overmier, J. Smith, Stalcup, and Perkins, ends; Fischer, Milner, Sheetz, Knorrp, Mitzel, Russell, Daniels, and Phelps, backfield.

Warrensburg Mules Will Be Here Soon

The Warrensburg Mules, with a squad of twenty-six men are invading the Bearcat lair Friday night with every intention of removing the Maryville team from a top position in the M. I. A. A. ladder.

Though the Mules have not yet won a conference game, they cannot be looked on as easy victims. This is evidenced by the fact that both of their defeats in the association have been at the hands of two of the most powerful teams in the state, and both were by close scores. In one game, Warrensburg lost by failure to kick the extra point after touchdown.

Coach Tad Reid has a host of linemen whose weight averages in the neighborhood of 180 to 190 pounds, and the backfielders tip the scales in the 160s and 170s.

The following is the complete squad of the Warrensburg aggregation, with the numbers of the individual players. Those who will probably be in the starting line-up are denoted by an asterisk (*) after their name:

1 Denny	Tackle	180
2 Repp	Guard	175
4 Steeby	Guard	163
7 Gates*	Guard	165
8 Parson	Tackle	177
9 Elliot	Guard	170
10 Sulser*	Tackle	195
11 Best*	Tackle	180
